

Achieving higher goals for your Corporate Health

Occupational health, preventative medicine, insurance medicine, workplace examinations and labor productivity are trending issues for an entrepreneur to consider. People want to work in a pleasant, healthy and safe environment. Ultimately we all wish to be and stay motivated at work. This is true for both employee and employer.

Medwork Caribbean N.V. is an occupational health and insurance medicine advisory company providing among others healthcare management advisory services and sick leave management. The re-defining and tuning of (national) health care systems is an expertise embedded within the Medwork team of specialists.

Sick Leave Management

Sick leave management is one of Medwork's unique core businesses. Managing absenteeism at work is not just about doctors and illness. It encompasses maintaining a motivated and healthy labor force and a safe and healthy work environment. Ultimately it is all about labor productivity at work. Organizations accept the importance of the management of a labor force in all its aspects in order to stay competitive and be an employer of choice. Economies like the Aruban depend heavily on the performance of its employees for growth and prosperity.

Why Sick Leave Management?

Illness is just one factor that affects labor productivity. Conflicts at work, style of management, supervisory skills and family issues can lead to stress and other discomforts for an employee resulting in the decision to stay home. About 75% of sick leave claims are short term. At Medwork we provide an integral approach to sickness claim assessment. Medwork physicians do not only review and advice on claims, but also discuss absenteeism trends and issues with management and provide advice on individual cases and work environment in general.

Insurance Medicine

Insurance Medicine, another Medwork core business, is about the capability of an employee to perform his or her contractual work and specializes in determining long term physical and mental limitations of employees. If applicable a remaining capacity will be indicated and advice on suitable or appropriate work will be given. Our aim is to reach a win-win situation for employee and employer.

The Medwork team

Our clients can be found in every industry and Medwork services are currently available on Aruba, Curacao, St. Maarten, Bonaire, Saba and St. Eustatius. Our team of experts consists of occupational health physicians, insurance medicine physicians, general physicians, occupational health psychologists, labor and work environment expert, drug and alcohol screening specialists and health care management and financial consulting advisors.
